COMMUNICATED. THOUGHTS ON OLD PEOPLE.-No. 5.

BY TARPLEY STARK. "What a blessed thing it is for us, that there be left some few items in this busy world of ours, which that old ogre, utility, can neither gulph down, nor trample into compost! A few precious things, of no ac-eat, drink, wear, nor make money of-yet, things very valuable to us, to hang about us, to be with us, to draw out our better natures. and to make the heart realize it has other ends, besides the gross demands of vulgar interests.

Of this sort, and amongst this number, come our Old People, which, like the Poor, we must have always with us. Wrecks of humanity and wrecks of fortune, scattered along Time's beach, that we may never forget, whilst we load on our cargo and spread out our canvass, how surely the day comes to each | Phosphate of Lime when he must reef sail and cast anchor! And how the minutes, the minutes, the noiseless, noteless, busy little minutes, are like coral insects building up the reef that must capsize our bark.

In an age that draws its breath through steaming valves, and runs its race all iron shod, swift as the lightning and noisy as the thunder, what more natural than to realize and glory in its mightiness? How it feels as if it had God's life in its nostrils, his speed on its foot, his artillery in its right hand! How it can dash death from its track, and annihilate time with its breath! On we dash, till suddenly the pale horse darts across our way, and the iron monster reels and falls! Or, may be, 'tis only the burden train of the Poor, or the Aged, bearing down on us. We stop instinctively till they pass, and while we stop, we think. A blessed thing for us that we do think; that we have anything to make us think; some kind centripetal influences still left to hold us back from our headlong dash. And what do we think? What are our thoughts like?

The strong man bows his head, that head beneath which swell, so proud and full, the waves of life, and looks upon the Old Man tottering by; looks at the hoary head where, white and cold, rests the foam of the ebbing tide; at the dim eye which has struck its colors to the ruthless foe; at the sunken mouth where time has set his tooth; at the palzied hand, as dumb prayer raised to Heaven; at the shrunken limb, of which Time is the bootless chamberlain. He looks at all! And such a lesson as no pulpit orator can teach, sinks in his heart. No need to tell him which way he is travelling, while such a sign post stands upon his road. He sees, he feels, what life means now! Life, with its cares, its plans, its ventures-all the long sum worked out to his hand-its antecedent divided by its consequent, and lo! the quotient. Alas, poor sum! from such a plus of pride and hope and strength, to "change thy sign," and come off thus-"Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans everything."

But did old age only teach us such mournful lessons as this, 'twould be a dark shadow under which we would not love to tarry. Thank God, there is a holy light behind the shadow Though we do see the old castle surrender, the weak door let in the enemy, and a while after his white pennon wave from the turret, and his faded curtains hang at the window, yet, for all, he is not quite master. There's an inmate there who yields but to a higher liege. Brave soul! Through cracks and crevices (as it were) we see him glide. Now here, now there, we catch the glimmer of his light. Sometimes it all looks dark, but again we see the morning ray, and then we miscoously obtained from promiscuous cargoes, in stronger than Time shall claim his own!

Through these rents of humanity, these loop-holes of time, to eatch a glimpse of the Eternal Essence! Is not that something? To see the soul, like a startled tenant, preparing to go hence! Is there not a divine mystery and suggestion here? May it not explain why the Old Man seems so absent, and the look-out at the windows be darkened? Getting ready to be gone!

What will he take with him? What will he leave? How strange to be so near one who is so near to the invisible! Does not this reflect a halo round the Old Man's brow? No death's head there now, but the apotheosis of humanity! Time laps his film about us, but it is only the cocoon out of which shall rise the winged Immortal!

Clarke County, Va. 70 DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!! DYSPEP-SIA!!!-WHAT IS IT? How CURED?-Dyspepsia is our National Disease—weak stomach, feeble di-gestion, distress after eating, costive habit, billious condition. How many suffer with it and its atten-dant symptoms of low spirits, bad taste, coated tongue, obstupified head, and attacks of headache! Yet how few know how to cure it! Generally, because the bowels are constipated, resort is had to catharties, or laxatives. But such a condition was never cured by cathartics, whose only office is to weaken the digestion and impair the integrity of the entire assimilative system.

But HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC DYSstinate cases. This is done simply by improving the tone and restoring the integrity of the diges-tive organs, from which result good appetite, regular habits, a clear head, and buoyant spirits. such a medicine is a gem, and only requires to be

LING, and by all Druggists. my 19-eo2w CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purchasers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to them selves exact copies of the Star Brands, long used and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights.

Our new establishment, Gibsontos Mills, on the Monongahela River, gives us unequalled facili-ties for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from nalted and kiln-dried grain.

Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to notice, the words GIBSONTON MILLS and JOHN GIB- rates. son, Sons & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a duty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person of persons who may hereafter copy or use our Brands.

SOMBRERO GUANO.

N calling the attention of the public to this valuable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other phosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bone phosphate of lime; and that its mercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be easily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, therefore, to give the public a thorough knewledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the following list of eminent chemists in different parts of the world, who have analyzed different cargoes, from average samples taken by themselves from the cargoes just as they arrive from the island, without drying or selection of specimens for analyzation. Each analysis will be exhibited, if required, under the original signature of each chemist named:

Of phosphoric acid, estimated as equivalent to phosphate of lime, it is found to contain-By Prof. Morfit, of New York, 79.70 Piggot, Baltimore, Hayes, Boston, 89.20 Reese, Baltimore, Chilton, New York, Piggot, Baltimore, Huson, Liverpool, Eng.

Thus proving that the value of this GUANO is not determined by a SELECTED CHEMIST, OF SELEC-TED SPECIMENS, OF EVEN SELECTED CARGOES, but an average of the importations just as they arrive, and just as they are offered to the public for sale.
